

Rethinking development cooperation

November 18th & 19th 2022

What?

2-day seminar on the integration of post-growth economic thinking into development cooperation work

Who?

Practitioners from the development cooperation sector

Where?

Online via Zoom

Cost?

150 - 600 €
(Contribution based on self-assessment)

Register Now

until 1st November 2022

<https://bit.ly/3PQe6kO>

Ecological and social challenges require "out-of-the-box thinking"

It seems no feasible solution to propagate economic growth in the Global South, when growth in the Global North has proven to be the cause for many global problems. Other ways need to be found to enable countries to thrive, rather than simply to grow.

Explore growth independent pathways

We invite you to engage with us in a search: How can development cooperation promote growth independent approaches in countries of the Global South?

Participants will...

- Get an introduction to the main concepts of post-growth
- Get to know different examples of growth independent approaches in the Global South
- Get to know difficulties growth independent approaches face and with which tools to tackle them in development cooperation
- Define insights and concrete actions that you may want to integrate in your work

Speaker

- Prof. Katherine Gibson
- Lebohang Liepollo Pheko
- Ashish Kothari

Your contact at NELA

Lisa Habigt

+49 228-38757602

habigt@nexteconomylab.de

Tanja Brumbauer

+49 228-38757602

brumbauer@nexteconomylab.de

Government-funded by ENGAGEMENT GLOBAL
with resources from

Federal Ministry
for Economic Cooperation and Development